EINPresswire.com/ -- IndustryARC, in its latest report, predicts that Alcopop Market size is estimated to reach $3.5 billion by 2027, growing at a CAGR of 3.2% during the forecast period 2022-2027. An alcopop is any of some flavored alcoholic beverages with comparatively reduced alcohol content

(for example 3-7% alcohol by volume) inclusive of malt beverages to which different fruit juices or additional flavorings have been supplemented, wine coolers which are beverages including wine to which constituents like fruit juice or additional flavorings have been supplemented and mixed drinks including distilled alcohol and sweet liquids like fruit juices or additional flavorings. While the alcohol content of flavored malt beverages is comparable to that of most conventional malt beverages, the alcohol in numerous of them is extracted principally from the distilled spirits or distilled alcohol constituent of the added flavors instead of from fermentation. —70 Fed. Reg. 194 et seq. (January 3, 2005) Bud Light Hard Soda is prepared with natural flavors and fermented cane sugar, which is the identical alcohol utilized in the seltzers, lemonades, sours, and teas of the brand. Malt liquor is a kind of mass-market beer with soaring alcohol content, most closely linked with North America. Frequently malt liquor beverages possess a greater percentage of alcohol content, are marketed in bigger containers and are marketed at a reduced price per volume than the average beer. Hard seltzer is an associated classification of alcoholic drinks based on flavored seltzer water.
