It's an honor to be approved by the LASD as a CCW training provider. I've been working on this curriculum for a year, and I'm excited to offer it to the law-abiding public.”

“It's an honor to be approved by the LASD as a CCW training provider,” said Owner and Firearms Instructor Daniel Ferszt. “I've been working on this curriculum for a year, and I'm excited to offer it to the law-abiding public.”

The First Step Shooting CCW Course is eight hours long as required by California law, and will include both a classroom portion and shooting proficiency qualification. Ferszt promises that the new course will be engaging and interactive, and hopes that every CCW applicant will leave the class with a clearer understanding of what it means to be a CCW license holder, and the immense responsibility involved with carrying a firearm.

First Step Shooting Los Angeles County CCW classes begin Sunday, January 08, 2023, and additional dates are soon to be announced. Private lessons are also currently available upon request.
