Holdings, Inc. ("DriveltAway"), (OTC Marketplace: DWAY), an industry leader in automotive industry new mobility platforms with its unique subscription to purchase technology, is excited to announce its partnership with Legacy Auto Credit, specialists in helping people who are credit challenged to drive a new or used vehicle, based in Ontario, Canada.

"For decades Legacy Auto Credit has helped those who are credit challenged to acquire a new or used vehicle. We are proud to welcome them as a key partner for DriveltAway's unique subscription to ownership platform to expand our service into Canada, enabling more clients to drive his/her vehicle of choice," says John F. Possumato, Founder and CEO of DriveltAway, "This marks a milestone for DriveltAway, as we now, for the first time, expand our platform outside of the United States with a premier partner experienced in helping people transform their lives by improving credit scores."

The unique turnkey DriveltAway consumer app and platform was created for car dealers and finance organizations to enable all consumers, regardless of credit score or cash down payment, to drive and then buy the vehicle of his/her choice. The DriveltAway platform is also perfectly suited for curious, but hesitant, potential EV buyers, as, by design, it spreads out the upfront purchase cost of the vehicle while driving on a subscription. It serves as an "unlimited test drive" with no long-term financial obligation for the driver, but with the option to purchase available at any time with most of the "pay as you go" money paid applied towards the purchase price.

"We are very excited to partner with DriveltAway and be the organization that opens up the subscription to ownership platform in Canada," said Wayne Henhoeffler, General Manager of Legacy Auto Credit. "We see great potential in market acceptance and look forward to scaling this service rapidly to help our subprime clients, first in our greater Ontario market, and then expanding throughout Canada."

Legacy Auto Credit works with people who have experienced financial difficulties which limit them from being approved for a vehicle loan. Legacy specializes in helping people who are struggling to get auto credit for a new or used vehicle. Legacy's "Credit Helpers" program provides debt solutions and credit-rebuilding tools to help reduce debt and improve credit scores.
