Global Forecast 2022-2026' published by The Business Research Company, the roofing market size is expected to grow from $ 23.38 billion in 2021 to $ 26.03 billion in 2022 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.3%. The growth in the construction of both residential and non-residential buildings is expected to propel the growth of the roofing underlayment market going forward.

Construction refers to the assembly and erection of structures that provide shelter for residential or business purposes. Roofing underlayments are used in all residential and commercial buildings and act as a barrier between the framing materials and the top layer of shingles in the construction of roofs to help protect from water leaks.

The roofing underlayment market analysis consists of sales of roofing underlayment by entities (organizations, sole traders, and partnerships) that are used as a protective layer to prevent water leaks, mold, and wind from entering the house. Roof underlayment refers to a layer that lies between shingles and the roof sheath or roof deck. This is a waterproof or water-resistant material directly placed on a roof deck before any other roofing materials are placed. It acts as a secondary protective layer for the home.
