Market Outline: -

Aesthetic are chemical procedures that aim to improve the physical appearance of the patient with the help of non-invasive to minimal invasive procedures such as liposuction, body contouring, plastic surgery and others to enhance the skin's quality. These aesthetics procedures were invented in dermatology and cosmetology to redevelop, reconstruct the facial deformities, and resolve the skin's issues related to aging processes such as wrinkles and fine lines.

These aesthetic procedures are now day popular in the pharmaceutical industry and the research and development industry due to increased population demand. The main reasons for the growth of this market are rise in aging population, increase use of minimally invasive procedures, technological advancements, less disparity between men and women for aesthetic procedures. The main factors that are hindering the growth of the clinical trial supply market are the presence of unlicensed dermatologists, the social stigma, the poor reimbursement scenario and lack of skilled expertise.
