EINPresswire.com/ -- Developer Efficiency Workbench (DEW) helps developers and enterprises accelerate App development by using its unique features such as Data Binding, Flow

Programming, Code Generation, Query Builder, UI Designer, etc. These features can be utilized to create enterprise-level applications quickly using drag-and-drop.

DEW reduces App development time & complexity while coding by its Low Code features. The reduction in app development time varies, but on average, at least 50% of the app development time is saved. Hence, a significant cost savings to IT and developers. Most importantly, DEW helps even entry-level developers work at the pace of professional coders to build enterprise-level applications quickly.

DEW Studio's Low-Code platform helps organizations build apps quickly and streamline the development workflow. Combining people, technologies, and data in a single workflow!!"

The latest updates to DEW Studio are:

1. API Generation wizard: It helps to generate services much faster by selecting the required entities and operations.

2. Page Wizard: It generates both services and pages based on the selected entities and the page design templates. Developers can increase their productivity by using it.

3. Navigation: Now, it's easier to generate navigation using drag-and-drop, eliminating the need for manual development. It helps developers manage routing and menu bars easily to develop applications faster.
