Living Glass Keepsakes

Mark Brewer, company President, commented, “We’re excited to introduce cremation jewelry and our unique Living Glass line, two options that were born out of customer demand and are great complements to our other keepsakes and urns. Families love the idea of a Living Urn® tree planting, a scattering event, or burying a loved one’s ashes, and many want something small in addition to these memorials that they can keep with them in the home. Our jewelry and glass pieces provide just that and are great options for families.”

some really unique cremation jewelry lines in January that we expect will also be popular among families and funeral homes nationwide.”
