Nocardiosis refers to an infectious pulmonary disease that is characterized by abscesses in the lungs. These type of abscesses may extend through the chest wall. The infection generally spreads through the body through the bloodstream by a microorganism called Nocardia asteroides.

The increase in the prevalence of infectious diseases across the globe acts as one of the major factors driving the growth of nocardiosis treatment market. The rise in awareness among people regarding the rare disorders and increase in demand for specific drugs for various symptoms including chest pain, cough, bloody sputum, sweats, chills, weakness, lack of appetite, and weight loss, among others accelerate the market growth. The rise in number of clinical trials for enhancement of drugs and therapies and development in therapies to treat infectious diseases further influence the market. Additionally, surge in investments, change in lifestyle, rise in healthcare expenditure, growth in awareness and expansion of pharmaceutical industry positively affect the nocardiosis treatment market. Furthermore, advancements in the medications extend profitable opportunities to the market players in the forecast period of 2022 to 2029.

On the other hand, high cost associated with the treatment and diagnosis is expected to obstruct the market growth. Low awareness among people is projected to challenge the nocardiosis treatment market in the forecast period of 2022-2029.
