

En-TRANCED Introduces First-Ever Sublingual Dry-Mist CANNA-MIZER Cannabis Spray to Celebrities and Influencers

En-TRANCED received positive feedback about the first-ever sublingual dry-mist cannabis spray which was gifted to celebrities and influencers

HOLLYWOOD, CA, USA, December 30, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- En-TRANCED, Inc., a cannabis product manufacturer based in Massachusetts, received raving reviews after introducing its newest product the CANNA-MIZER, the first-ever sublingual dry-mist cannabis spray, to celebrities and influencers in Hollywood, California. It was the company's first major public exposure of its groundbreaking cannabis spray.

People were amazed at how effective the CANNA-MIZER dry-mist spray is compared to other cannabis products...”

Laura Stephens, Senior Vice President of En-TRANCED, Inc.

The CANNA-MIZER is a dry-mist spray that is packaged in a discreet container that delivers 5 milligrams of THC with each dose. The fast-acting cannabis spray is not a tincture or beverage, which is what sets it apart from many other cannabis offerings on the market. The CANNA-MIZER quickly takes effect within 3 to 5 minutes because of the patent-pending sublingual penetration technology known as CYCLONE, giving consumers a dose-controlled spray with every use. Because the cannabis is delivered to the sublingual artery underneath the tongue, it does not pose harm to lung tissue like vaping and smoking.

“The entire En-TRANCED team is extremely excited about the positive feedback we received at our launch event. People were amazed at how effective the CANNA-MIZER dry-mist spray is compared to other cannabis products. The outstanding feedback we received from celebrities and influencers at the event helped solidify the unique and special quality of the CANNA-MIZER,” said Laura Stephens, Senior Vice President of En-TRANCED, Inc.
