With the latest move, 24-7 Marketing's FastRank™ program combines detailed keyword research and analysis with pro-grade content creation to rapidly build a stronger online presence. The service can be tailored to businesses in any field with a view to improving the overall ranking of their website.

Search Engine Optimization is a crucial aspect of digital marketing for businesses. It involves optimizing a website in a way that helps it rank higher in search engine results pages (SERPs) for relevant keywords. A higher ranking in search results leads to more visibility and, ultimately, more traffic to the target site.

Ranking on the first page of Google is increasingly important, with data showing that two-thirds of all traffic clicks through the top five results. When a business ranks highly in search results, it is more likely to be seen by potential customers, which can lead to increased brand awareness.

The FastRank™ program can quickly help businesses target specific demographics or locations through its marketing approaches. By optimizing their website for specific keywords and phrases, businesses can attract the right audience to their platform and improve the chances of converting those visitors into customers.

The SEO service can also help businesses establish their brand as an authority in their industry. When a website ranks highly for relevant keywords, it can be seen as a trusted source of information, which can lead to increased credibility and trust in the brand.

The business is run by Greg Maka, a marketer with in-depth experience in creative advertising and SEO strategies. A client spokesperson states: "24-7 Marketing offers a wide perspective of cutting-edge, proven SEO solutions for their clients. They create unique, innovative strategies to help all clients achieve success. The combined experience of the 24-7 Marketing staff is over 100 years in online and traditional advertising."
