

Neha Gupta Joins Learning Pool's Board of Directors

Learning Pool, a leading global provider of corporate learning, has announced the appointment of Neha Gupta as a non-executive member of its board.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, January 6, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A leader in GRC and learning, Neha is widely regarded as one of the most innovative Ethics & Compliance voices in the space, helping thousands of companies manage their conduct risk and adopt new ways of implementing

DOJ-ready Ethics & Compliance programs. She joins the board as a non-executive member to provide independent advice as the company continues its growth in Europe and North America. To the role, Neha brings invaluable strategic experience, technical expertise and innovative thinking as former CEO of True Office Learning (acquired by Learning Pool in January 2022) - a company that was spun out from the New York Stock Exchange to later serve dozens of Fortune 100 enterprises with its revolutionary, measurable adaptive learning.

"Neha is uniquely qualified to help strengthen our board," said Ben Betts, CEO of Learning Pool. "She brings deep industry knowledge and customer insight, and has a proven track record of disrupting the status quo through innovative solutions." He continued, "She's a real trailblazer in the Ethics & Compliance industry. Her leadership is held in very high regard by all who know and work with her."

Echoing Ben's enthusiasm, Neha commented, "This is an exciting time to be able to support Learning Pool as it continues to innovate across all aspects of Enterprise learning. I'm looking forward to building on the company's reputation and shaping the future of digital learning, not just for compliance, but for all aspects of the employee readiness spectrum, from onboarding, on-the-job performance to upskilling. We are just getting started on the journey to consistently create extraordinary outcomes for our customers and their employees through technology and data insights."

Neha Gupta, non-executive board member, Learning Pool

Prior to her role as CEO, Neha served as Senior Director of Learning Solutions & Strategic Initiatives at NYSE Governance Services, leading all product strategy and development initiatives for the business. Neha has also held various executive roles across financial services, technology and non-profit organizations, leading critical global functions and delivering on strategic change management initiatives. An innovation catalyst and established cognitive science and data enthusiast, Neha has been a featured speaker across various industry events and media outlets. She holds an MBA in Global Business & Strategy from Rutgers Business School and B.E. from Honors School of Engineering at Rutgers in Electrical and Computer Engineering.
