Located near Corinth, Maine, Levant is a historic town located in Penobscot County in the heart of Maine. With a peaceful location and small population of 3,000, local residents have enough time and space to enjoy Central Maine and its many lakes. Levant was founded in 1802 as Kenduskeag Plantation. The town took on its current name a few years later, in 1813. Today, Levant is home to many families and businesses, all of whom deserve quality heating solutions.

D&J Mechanical, LLC offers a complete heating, cooling, and ventilation service in Levant and the surrounding area. Along with heat pump installation, they also specialize in HVAC maintenance and repair services.

D&J Mechanical, LLC is a proud local business owned and operated by Dan Hartford. As part of the local community, Dan knows what it takes to support Maine residents and business owners. D&J Mechanical, LLC supplies great products, leading services, and friendly customer support where it's needed the most. Dan has more than 10 years of HVAC experience, and he looks forward to supporting more customers in the months and years ahead. D&J Mechanical, LLC is excited to expand its heat pump installation service into Levant and the surrounding area.
