Trending Hot Tobacco Market Trend

The launch of new heated tobacco products across the globe is a leading trend driving the growth of the hot tobacco products market. For instance, in August 2021, Japan Tobacco Inc., a Japan-based company operating in the heated tobacco company, introduced Ploom X, its next-generation heated tobacco device. Ploom X is equipped with a new heating technology, HEATFLOW®, which focuses on airflow, significantly improving user experience and Bluetooth® capabilities that allow users to connect with their smartphones, view the battery level, lock the device, and do a lot more. Therefore, the continuous launch of new hot tobacco products into the market is projected to be a major trend in the market over the coming years.
