Douglas Insights

A growing geriatric population, an increase in metabolic and chronic disorders, and an increase in patient care expenditure are driving the enteral feeding formula market. In 2018, the World Heart Federation reported that coronary heart disease was the leading cause of death worldwide. A staggering 3.8 million men and 3.4 million women die of coronary heart disease each year, and 80% of those deaths happen in low- and middle-income countries. The increased number of premature births as well as the growing nutritional deficiencies in infants and pregnant women will lead to an increase in the demand for nutritional requirements, which will ultimately drive the growth of the overall market.
