

Life-Altering Exploration, Lessons in “Extreme Entrepreneurs”

Author Tracy Emerick Takes a Deep Dive into the Lives of Steve Jobs and Jesus Christ, Extracts Valuable Takeaways

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, January 11, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- What is an Entrepreneur?

We often have different connotations with this word, but one thing is common amongst people: the word is often connected with people who do business. A new book breaks this layer of connotation and explores an even deeper meaning through a dive into the lives and works of two persons: the man who broke the barriers of technology, Steve Jobs, and the Savior who changed the world, Jesus Christ.

New book “Extreme Entrepreneurs: Steve Jobs and Jesus Christ” is sure to give you wonderful and insightful ideas to life, inspired by its author’s experiences, and setting eyes to two lives: Jesus and Steve Jobs. The book is expected to fuel your passion for entrepreneurship and to life.

Written by Tracy Emerick, the book explores the soul and how it projects to others by the use of two personalities. Both are examined for what each did as an "extreme entrepreneur," to provide a position that has changed and will continue to change humankind. The book defines an entrepreneur perfectly as “a person who believes she or he can bring forth something that will be more pleasing to people than that which currently exists.”

In his words, Steve Jobs provided technology that provides a "bicycle for the mind," putting complex technology in the hands of the non-technical masses. Jesus Christ, however, converted living in fear to living in love as a way to tap the God within each of us.
