The market for industrial hose has seen substantial growth due to factors such as its rising demand in critical applications and growing trends related to infrastructure activities. Also, increased knowledge across different industries offers an enormous market opportunity for key players in the industrial hose market.

Industrial Hose Market

Industrial hoses are used to suction and discharge chemicals because they are chemical and abrasion resistant and can withstand high temperatures and pressure. The growing global demand for autos, as well as the increasing modernization of farming methods, are expected to present the business with huge potential opportunities. Polyurethane fabric hoses are expected to hold a major proportion of the global industrial hose market over the forecast period.

Industrial Hose Market Trends

Geographically, due to the region's rising automotive and agriculture industries, as well as increased infrastructure operations, the Asia Pacific region is expected to occupy a substantial share of the market over the forecast period, with key demand coming from nations such as China and India. The growing number of infrastructure-related projects is driving private participation in infrastructure (PPI) to invest more, resulting in an increase in hose demand.

Infrastructural developments in APAC are primarily driving rapid urbanisation and industrialization; this trend is driving demand for hoses, which are used for a variety of purposes, including material handling in the construction industry and transporting various types of fluids from one location to another in various industries.

Key Market Players

The major players in the market are Eaton Corporation PLC, Gates Industrial Corporation PLC, Parker Hannifin Corporation, Transfer Oil S.p.A., Kurt Manufacturing, Piranha Hose Products, Inc., NORRES Schlauchtechnik GmbH, Colex International Ltd., among others. The report covers the market shares, capacities, plant turnarounds, expansions, investments and mergers and acquisitions, among other latest developments of these market players.
