Young Holyfield explained how "Keep Em Shaking" was realized. "First and foremost, let me say I had an exceptional team of creative thinkers. We wanted to get outside the box as much as possible, so we listened to the song countless times (literally day and night). We studied other videos and talent for added inspiration. Then the process began... before my team and I planned anything we set an exact budget. Next we searched for and found a location, based on the theme of the video. Our process included creating a storyboard to determine what equipment would be needed for each scene. Once we found the perfect film crew, we were able to the magic happen and together, we birthed a beautiful project."

Young Holyfield's video "Keep Em Shaking" has received significant attention across the whole urban scene and is playing everywhere from nightclubs to regional television like Video Hits! in Rochester, NY to a variety of Roku channels too.
