

LCX Referral Program

Get 40% commission on referred friends first trade fee with LCX's referral program. Login & navigate to referral section for link.

VADUZ, LIECHTENSTEIN, January 24, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LCX has recently announced the launch of its referral program which aims to reward users who refer their connections to the platform. To participate in the program, users can simply visit the LCX website, get verified, and then go to the referral program page (lcx.com/lcx-referral-program/) to invite their connections. Once the connection executes a successful trade, the referrer will receive a percentage of the trading fee. This program offers a great opportunity for users to earn additional income by simply sharing the LCX platform with their connections.

Here's How It Works-

As for the referral program's workings, when a referred person registers on the LCX platform and places their first trade, the referrer will receive 40% of the trading fee paid by the referred person during that trade for the first six months.

About LCX-

LCX is a regulated, secure, and compliant platform for buying, selling, transferring, and storing digital currencies. The company focuses on the tokenization of assets, utility and security token offerings, and advanced trading tools. LCX is committed to building a strong and supportive community of traders and encourages all of its users to take advantage of this opportunity and invite their friends to join the LCX (lcx.com) family.
