increase in demand for sophisticated firearms. Moreover, increasing sales of automatic weapons to civilian entities also contributes to market growth.

However, increased use of automatic weapon by criminals and terrorists has been a key restraining factor hampering market growth. This is due to fear among civilians and law enforcement agencies about indiscriminate firing of automatic weapons, which could lead to indiscriminate casualties.

Additionally, stringent regulations governing use and sale of automatic weapons are also likely to restrain market growth in some regions.

There are a number of risks associated with the automatic weapons market. The first and most obvious risk is that weapon systems could malfunction and cause injury or death. This is especially a concern when it comes to military-grade weapons, which are often designed for use in combat.

Automatic Weapons Market Key players

Some of the key players in the automatic weapons market include Barrett Manufacturing, Northrop Grumman (US), Colt's Manufacturing Company LLC (US), Rheinmetall AG (Germany), FN Herstal (Belgium), ST Engineering (Singapore), Heckler & Koch AG (Germany), KBP Instrument Design Bureau (Russia), General Dynamics Corporation (US), and BAE Systems.
