One of the key drivers of the online gambling market has been the spike in users that came with COVID-19. This is because traditional gambling venues were blocked due to COVID-19, and online gambling sites became the go-to place for many people.

The key restraints on the online gambling market include: Global Recession, Governments across the world implementing lockdown, and a huge loss of revenue for the economy in general. With these constraints, no one is expecting a booming market in the foreseeable future.
