

Todd Cooper of Idaho First Bank Nominated to CCDC Board

BOISE, ID, UNITED STATES, January 19, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Boise Mayor Lauren McLean has appointed Idaho First Bank, President Todd Cooper, as a "Commissioner" of the Capital City Development Corporation (CCDC). The Board oversees the city's urban renewal agency. Cooper was confirmed by the City Council for a standard five-year term.

'I appreciate the nomination of Mayor McLean and look forward to applying my skills to the role of commissioner. I'm really excited to work with both fellow commissioners, and the CCDC staff, to continue the great work of the agency.' - Todd Cooper.

Todd Cooper is currently President and CEO of Idaho First Bank. With over 30 years' experience in the banking industry, Todd has continuously been an active community leader, including serving as Board Chair for the Boys and Girls Club of Ada County and as Board Member and former Board Chair for the Boise Valley Economic Partnership (BVEP). Additionally, he serves on the leadership board at the College of Business at Idaho State University.

Cooper, who grew up in Idaho, earned both an undergraduate degree and a Master's in Business Administration from Idaho State University. Todd values spending quality family time with his adult children and wife Susan, as well as enjoying many versatile outdoor activities Idaho is known for.
