Trending Filgrastim Biosimilars Market Trend

Companies in the pegfilgrastim biosimilar market are increasing their product innovation through strategic collaborations. To sustain themselves in the increasingly competitive market, companies are developing innovative products as well as sharing skills and expertise with other companies. While companies have long collaborated with academic and research institutions in this market by way of partnerships or out-licensing deals, this trend has been increasing over the past few years. For instance, in April 2020, Biocon, an India-based biopharmaceutical company, partnered with Mylan, a US-based generic and specialty pharmaceuticals company, to introduce Fulphila, a biosimilar pegfilgrastim, in Australia. Fulphila has been licenced by the Therapeutic Goods Administration for the therapy of oncology patients who have had chemotherapy to shorten the length of acute neutropenia and hence the risk of infection, as evidenced by febrile neutropenia.
