Small businesses are the driving force of America. With partnerships like this one, we can continue revitalizing our city and bringing much-needed resources to the Richmond area.”

Renaissance is an onsite resource for East Bay entrepreneurs who are seeking support. The new location is easily accessible by rail (Amtrak, Capitol Corridor, BART), bus, or SF Ferry due to its proximity to the Richmond Transit Center. Known for its Women’s Business Center, the Renaissance has a proven track record of building sustainable and scalable businesses throughout the Golden State. The center’s outcomes show 75% of their clients are people of color, and 90% are low to moderate-income individuals. In addition, they are changing the community by empowering smaller enterprises to make a socio-economic impact in the region.

CoBiz founding CEO Wesley Alexander is excited to bring these game changers to his 9,000-square-foot co-working facility. "Small businesses are the driving force of America, and their development is critical to building resilient local economies. With anchor tenants like Renaissance, we can continue to enhance the ecosystem needed for entrepreneurs here in Richmond and surrounding communities to thrive." says Alexander.
