

New book Presents a Mother's Spiritual Journey After Losing a Child and How Faith Guided Her Through the Darkest Moment

In Thirty, Carole Sluski shares raw first-hand experience of the pain, confusion, disbelief, loneliness, and sadness, she encountered in the loss of her child.

NAPLES, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, January 24, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Losing a child can only be described as an immediate shock of unbearable pain, grief, and mourning one can ever feel. Carole Sluski's experience was no different. After losing her daughter Paula as a young adult, while still on her deathbed, she grasped for the hope that a miracle would happen and she would have her child back again. At this crisis stage, she reached out to God because she had nowhere else to go.

As reality started settling in, Carole began leaning heavily on her faith to make it through each day of her life. She was given a tool to use for healing her grief. As she continues to progress in living her life daily with healing, she has experienced a new development of her faith brought on by her connection with the Blessed Virgin Mary, the mother of Jesus.

In Thirty: A Mother's Spiritual Journey After Losing Her Child, Carole shares her raw first-hand experience of the pain, confusion, disbelief, loneliness, sadness, and sickness she encountered in the loss of her child, Paula. From the early stages, in the beginning, days, weeks, and months of her loss, when she realized she was living in her darkest moments, to her thirty-year journey of grieving and healing through her faith in God, Carole will help you understand that healing is possible.

Thirty: A Mother's Spiritual Journey After Losing Her Child

Carole's inspiring and touching story proves that taking small steps through a new life will make the reader a better person to themselves and others. Carole's love for Paula enabled her to be stronger and become a survivor through the worst physical illnesses and mental suffering she incurred. Knowing her God that the Holy Spirit is for real, she knows she will see Paula again in Heaven.

Just like she did, readers can also experience how faith will make them persevere in the darkest moments and unbearable pain.

"I visualized I was standing in the middle of a field looking up into the baby blue sky. The clouds are fluffy like huge cotton balls spreading across as far as one can see. The sun's rays are glimmering shining through and beyond the clouds down to the earth as a faint rainbow starts to appear. Then out of nowhere, comes this beautiful eagle with its wings spread wide, gliding downward as it picks up Paula's soul and flies her up to Heaven." - Carole J. Sluski

About Carole J. Sluski:

The only conclusion I come to after thirty years is, “without God, there is no survival, and there is no logic for living.”

Carole J. Sluski

Carole Sluski is a mother of two daughters and grandmother of two granddaughters, but she is also a victim of the worst loss a person can have: she is a parent who lost her child and experienced mental and physical pain of grief. Through devotion in faith, she reached out to God for help to survive.

She currently resides in Florida with her husband Dr. Dennis Sluski, and after thirty years, Carole had a calling to share her journey of learning how to live out life with peace and well-being. Her story will make you cry, laugh, connect, understand, learn, sympathize, appreciate, and believe in hope.

Over the course of years, she gathered her expertise, knowledge, and talent and put it to use for her recovery and to benefit others she loves.

Professionally, Carole is an accomplished entrepreneur in business and creative arts.
