About VonMercier Hovercraft

VonMercier Hovercraft is a renowned manufacturer of state-of-the-art hovercraft technology, recognized for its superior engineering and unrivaled hovercraft performance. VonMercier's debut vehicle is the Arosa electric sports hovercraft. The Arosa is an amphibious vehicle that can travel over land, water and a variety of terrain in between. It does this by traveling on a cushion of air and essentially flying right above the surface. Three independent electric motors power a quiet lift fan and two side-thrust fans.

The Arosa is the most maneuverable personal hovercraft in the world. Innovative HoverDrive© technology makes it possible to maneuver in the forward, lateral and reverse directions, so you can stop and go with ease. Intuitive pilot inputs make flying the Arosa easy to learn and enjoy. The hull and body of the Arosa are molded carbon fiber which make it lightweight and strong. The open-air cabin includes tandem sport seating for two passengers or a rear bench seat to fit two+. Swim decks around the lower perimeter rest at water level when the power is off and Arosa is floating so passengers can enjoy a swim and easily climb back aboard.

The partnership between Aeroauto and VonMercier Hovercraft is set to take the transportation industry to new heights, and customers can look forward to a range of innovative and eco-friendly hovercraft in the near future.
