NITA, an approved Bureau of Security and Investigative Services (BSIS) school, is now offering California Security Guard Card training on its 100% online digital platform.

All California security guard registrants are required to complete 32 hours of approved training within six months from the date of the initial registration. In addition, eight hours of continuing education (CE) is required annually.

We are thrilled to offer not only the required California guard card training but also a large variety of continuing education classes.”

Sandra von Eschenbach, Executive Vice President

This relevant industry-related online training follows all guidelines set forth by California Business and Professions Code, 7583.6, and the outlined training set forth in BSIS Title,16, Division 7 of the California Code of Regulations.

NITA's innovative course packaging format allows the student to choose from a variety of training options to best fit their personnel schedule and licensing needs.

Classes are available for immediate enrollment and are offered exclusively online.

As the largest provider of online education for investigators and private security professionals, NITA's staff has worked diligently to provide online security guard card training in California. The training covers the required topics from the BSIS including officer safety, communication, report writing and documentation, public relations, legal and liability issues and so much more.

“We are thrilled to offer not only the required California guard card training but also a large variety of continuing education classes,” said Sandra von Eschenbach, Executive Vice President of NITA. “This state-approved training will satisfy the California guard requirements while also providing the ability security professionals to study online, on their own schedule.”
