About Wisner Baum

At the start of 2023, the law firm of Baum Hedlund Aristei & Goldman announced a name change to Wisner Baum. With more than $4 billion in verdicts and settlements, the firm will enter its 50th year in practice with lead trial attorney, R. Brent Wisner, as managing partner. At 39, Wisner is perhaps the youngest attorney to lead a national law firm. His age belies an impressive track record in major cases, including a multi-billion-dollar verdict in 2019 against Monsanto Company (Bayer AG). With only 11 years as a practicing attorney, Wisner has already negotiated settlements for clients in excess of $1 billion.

Attorney Michael L. Baum, who served as Baum Hedlund's managing partner from 1993 to 2022, will continue his work at Wisner Baum as one of the firm's three senior partners. The firm also announced the retirement of longtime vice president, secretary, and senior shareholder, Ronald L. M. Goldman. The other former named partners—Paul J. Hedlund and J. Clark Aristei—retired from the firm in 2018. Aristei passed away in 2021.

Wisner Baum represents more than 18,000 clients across a broad range of practice areas. With upcoming trials in 2023 over Zantac and toxic baby food, as well as a seat on the plaintiff's leadership of the federal Gardasil HPV vaccine MDL (multi-district litigation), the firm has established itself as a leader in mass tort litigation.
