of Union Acoustic*

Union AP Custom addresses the need of providing noise mitigation for in indoor settings, especially in spaces that were structured for a special purpose, thus they have specific requirements.

Customised acoustic panels are often found in theatres, auditoriums, recording studios and other places that are in need of specific sound control solutions, including sound insulation and echo and reverb stabilisation. However, given the evolving use of space, acoustic panel customisation is now being sought by business from different industry sectors, and as well as for home or residential use.

"We are also seeing homeowners looking for custom-made acoustic panels to be installed in their walls,” Ricky Thng continues. “Soundproofing has become beneficial to clients who have started setting up home theatre systems, as well as to those who have converted parts of their living spaces into home offices.”

Union AP Custom offers tailor-made sound proofing solutions without compromising function and quality. Acoustic panels can be custom made in accordance with the client’s requirements in terms of design, room or wall placement, material shape, size, and thickness, and desired aesthetics.

Aside from acoustic panel customisation, Union Acoustic also offers other indoor soundproofing products, including the Union AP Carved, Union AP Skyboard, Union AP Anti-Noise Divider, Union AP Cut-through, and Union AP Hanging Divider.
