

Black and Brown Capital's Economic Advisor Dr. E. Lance McCarthy to Demand Corporate Economic and Social Justice Report

Backed by decades of civil rights activism, Black and Brown Capital Group provides capital to Black and Brown Businesses as a solution to police brutality.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA, UNITED STATES, January 31, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Recent history continues to repeat itself. As the world once again witnessed the horrific beating and arrest of a Black man, Tyre Nichols who later died at the hands and hatred of law enforcement, we need answers.

In a call to action, the Black and Brown Capital Group (BBCG) who stands with advocates of anti-racism, economic justice, and civil rights is demanding corporate accountability. Under the leadership of Economist Dr. E. Lance McCarthy aka Dr. Lance, the development for a "Corporate Economic and Social Justice Report Card" is in progress to rank the performance, track, and grade corporations' commitment and programs to address economic and social justice to be released to the public.

"We are calling for all the receipts from every corporation across the Nation that committed to fund Black and Brown businesses," said Dr. Lance, Global Economist for the Black and Brown Capital Group. "Another Black American's name was added to the long list of tragic deaths Eric Garner, Michael Brown, George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, and too many others. In the first quarter of 2023, Tyre Nichols' death is even more prevalent for corporate accountability and their positive outcomes, if any."

Dr. Lance who advises the George Floyd Foundation and co-founded the Ferguson 1000, stated that $200 Billion has been pledged after George Floyd's death by corporations, yet little of that funding has reached the communities it was to serve and make a difference.

Digital.Davos Speaker and Global Economist Dr. E. Lance McCarthy, who consults for Ferguson 1000 and the George Floyd Foundation, is leading the effort to develop a strategic process to obtain the corporate pledge accountability.

"Our voices have been amplified through the cries for a Black mother from her dying son. Yet another egregious death needs to be on a worldwide platform to clearly see there needs to be corporate accountability for the pledge that has exceeded the initial $50 billion," said Dr. Lance. "Where are the receipts?"

We are calling for all the receipts from every corporation across the Nation that committed to fund Black and Brown businesses as a solution to police brutality."

About Black and Brown Capital Group

Black and Brown Capital Group ("BBCG") mission is to facilitate the ability for Black and Brown communities to achieve equity equality. BBCG provides funding to minority owned companies and social media and digital related services to help these companies grow. This creates independent sustainable businesses that will grow and support their communities with jobs and success. We refer to this as Equity Equality.

BBCG was created to provide capital to Black and Brown Businesses as a solution to police brutality. BBCG's source of capital for its initiatives is established brands, national companies and financial institutions who have a social justice and racial equality mandate, after the impact of the killing of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery and the global protest for change. These companies are committed to fight wealth inequality by funding minority-owned businesses.

The core team of BBCG has more than three decades of civil rights activism, successful investment returns, company building, venture capital and political lobbying experience. The success of this program requires the interaction with social activist groups that support similar initiatives.

Founders of Black and Brown Capital Group ("BBCG") led by Fernando Green (sitting), has more than 50 years of combined experience in the investment and financial area. BT Capital Chairman Ralph M. Henderson focuses on social justice, equity equality, and social reform.
