"Our vision with every GFC production is to create a deep and meaningful impact and promote diversity in our audiences and the industry." Sates Global Fashion Collective Creator & Founder Jamal Abdourahman "The collections presented this season come from outstanding emerging designers, all exceptionally expressive and dynamic in their design choices. We are elated to bring such a unique collective to NYFW Fall/Winter 2023."

In 2017, Vancouver Fashion Week launched Global Fashion Collective (GFC) to further propel the global exposure of its most promising designers by producing shows at New York Fashion Week, Rakuten Fashion Week Tokyo, and Paris Fashion Week. Global Fashion Collective creates an exclusive network for designers to network, connect, and showcase their work. Notable designers that have previously shown with the collective include but are not limited to OZLANA , AyLelum , Carlton Jones, and WooleeX . The brand has expanded the platform to London Fashion Week and Milan Fashion Week and is exploring further outreach to Monterey, Mexico, within the near future.

About Global Fashion Collective

Launched in October 2017, Global Fashion Collective (GFC) is a platform led by a group of dynamic individuals who share the common goal of cultivating an inclusive and diverse fashion industry. Global Fashion Collective's mission is to accelerate designer development by producing innovative runway showcases globally in fashion capitals to increase their international media visibility and expand new market opportunities for their show's participating designers. As the sister company to Vancouver Fashion Week, which has been producing shows since 2001, GFC works with a wide range of international designers at all runway shows. After showcasing in Paris, New York, and Tokyo, the Collective plans to expand its reach with upcoming shows in London and Milan for 2023. Global Fashion Collective aims to grow to be the industry leader in providing collective shows worldwide.
