Continuing their remarkable streak of success, Scott Brothers stunned audiences with a refreshing new record on December 28, 2022. The single also featured Scott Brothers' major collaborative feature with Joell Ortiz, which was released on Tunecore.

Making music for over 20 years and constantly rejuvenated by a passion for their craft, Scott Brothers' roster includes tracks that present an exhilarating mix of rhythms alongside honest lyricism.

The Scott Brothers' latest EP- 'Pioneers Millennials 2' was unveiled in 2022 and featured influential artist, Cappadonna from Wu-Tang. The iconic duo always seems to provide top-notch sound with innumerable collaborations with other renowned artists, including a feature with Joell Ortiz from Slaughterhouse. Their extensive discography includes a full-length album

'Current Events,' their EP 'Pioneers Millennials,' and 11 noteworthy singles that have solidified their long-standing influence in the music industry.

Aside from making music in the studio, the Scott Brothers also make their presence felt on the live stage. They have attracted audiences by bringing their unique energy and enthusiasm to places like Brooklyn, New York (for the esteemed Fashion Week 2022) and at Silo in Reading, Pennsylvania.

Joining them is the talented producer and engineer, DBC, from the '90s group Stesasonic. Having worked in the same studio as Jill Scott and Jazzy Jeff, DBC is assisted by their main producer, Annodomination, who is a Platinum-selling artist hailing from the United Kingdom.

Highlighting an assortment of plots and tunes, Scott Brothers' tune "Back Then" was formulated by AnnoDomination and exhibits the earlier days of their melodic vocation and radiates the vigorous enthusiasm that they can deliver through their tunes. On the other hand, the single, "FIND A WAY" speaks to confronting troublesome circumstances that are forced upon an individual – monetarily, profoundly, and intellectually.
