Key Highlights in Report

The software segment accounted for a moderate revenue share in 2021. Interactive kiosk software gathers relevant data to assist companies in optimizing operations and increasing sales. Based on their unique interests and past purchases, clients can shop for and buy items via guided selling.

Customers can locate ideal items for them with the assistance of software, which also helps to customize shopping experience. For instance, if a consumer is utilizing a guided selling kiosk to purchase a car, they might well be asked questions regarding automobile's performance, cargo capacity, fuel efficiency, price, or luxury.

Customers will receive recommendations and a QR code, which will allow them to download product details to their mobile devices. Customers can also make payments at the kiosk owing to this software, which is driving revenue growth of this segment.
