organizations. Core Challengers are known for alleviating the stress and complexity L&D professionals find with the rich suite capability of Strategic Leader solutions.

Why would Rise Up be recognized as a Core Challenger by the Fosway 9-Grid™?

Rise Up is a three-in-one platform delivering a Learning Experience Platform (LXP) for learners, a Learning Management System (LMS) for administrators, and an authoring tool for trainers. Rise Up's SaaS platform holds a community of 1 million global active learners, including enterprise users such as the NHS, Decathlon, and Dominos. Rise Up is regularly recognized for the simple, easy-to-use interface, our proactive, consultative LearningOps approach, and the accelerated Time-to-Skill™ for learners to make learning work at business speed.

"Being recognized as an accelerating Core Challenger in the 2023 Fosway 9-Grid™ for Learning Systems for two consecutive years is a true honor for us. This showcases our relentless pursuit of innovation and unwavering dedication to excellence in workplace learning as we continually challenge the traditional players in the market. Here at Rise Up, we help Enterprises and Training Providers rethink how they can upskill and transform their training programs, empowering our users to Own Today to gain true competitive advantage," said Arnaud Blachon, CEO, and Co-Founder of Rise Up.

In addition to recognizing top performers, the report also offers valuable insights on the latest trends in the learning systems market and potential challenges organizations may face in the coming year.
