

GALT Aerospace Announces Office Relocation to Accommodate Accelerated Growth

GALT Aerospace is excited to announce its relocation in San Diego. GALT is now located at 3860 Calle Fortunada, in the innovation hub of Kearny Mesa, San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, February 7, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- GALT Aerospace is excited to announce its relocation to expanded facilities in San Diego. GALT is a leading provider of agile, open-architecture communication solutions for the warfighter that feature best-of-breed open systems and seamless networking of disparate radios, data links and waveforms. GALT is now located at 3860 Calle Fortunada in the innovation hub of Kearny Mesa, San Diego.

The new office space is approximately 20,000 square feet, which makes it roughly 40% larger than the previous facility, spread over 3 office suites. The Kearny Mesa offices will house all GALT employees and all laboratory, engineering, and production capabilities in one location. The new facility will provide GALT staff with the much-needed space to continue its successful growth strategy.

"We are excited to have relocated to our new facility in Kearny Mesa," commented John Kohut, CEO and co-founder. "This move represents another significant milestone for GALT Aerospace as we continue to grow to better support our customers' national security missions. The new space enables us to expand our talent and continue to provide industry-leading services to our global clients. The thoughtfully laid out space will help drive innovation and collaboration while providing opportunities for further expansion into additional markets. I'm particularly gratified by the teamwork that completed the relocation in two days without disrupting any of our program commitments."
