/EINPresswire.com/ -- Equator Advanced Appliances has just announced the release of one of its newest compact cooling solutions — the freestanding ConServ Retro Convertible Refrigerator-Freezer (RCRF 320). Created to evoke a sense of nostalgia, while providing a flexible way for individuals to both refrigerate and freeze their perishables, the RCRF 320 model is ideal for any sized space.

“For a long time, we’ve wanted to launch a compact refrigerator-freezer combo that had unique style and appeal,” said Nick Mathews of Equator Advanced Appliances. “The RCRF 320 is fun and stylish, making it the perfect appliance for dorms, RVs, entertainment rooms, finished basements, and garages.”

Built to be interchangeable between a freezer and fridge, the sky’s the limit in terms of how the freestanding RCRF 320 can be used. The appliance measures 35.43 x 23.62 x 27.79 (HxWxD in inches), and it has adjustable feet, making it quick and easy to fit into almost any space. Its inside condenser ensures that the fridge-freezer stays at the correct temperature, even when the exterior temperature is hot. For those who want to quickly convert the fridge to a freezer, the Fast Freezing function rapidly chills the interior in the shortest amount of time. Adjusting the temperature is no trouble at all thanks to the electronic temperature control system.
