Explaining what real estate associates need to do to make the year a success, Your Home Sold

Guaranteed Realty content creator Jason Chen said, "In these tough economic times, people must learn how to focus. They need to have clear objectives and know where they want to go. Our workshops and training help people with goal setting so they have clarity to everything they do. Once that is decided, they need to go after it passionately. I tell my associates that the most successful people who close deals want it badly. This enables them to develop mental toughness that carries them through adversity until they succeed. Lastly, having a noble heart is critical to everything that we do. It's not just how we can help make our lives better but how the lives of others in the agency, our clients, and the community be enhanced significantly."

Other experienced associates discussed the latest trends in the real estate market and offered insights that associates can leverage to improve next year. Top Producing real estate agent Sunny Wong said, "As associates, we need to have a deep understanding of our clients and need to treat them like our families and friends. That only happens when we start listening to their stories and learn the history of their houses."
