LIFE Responds To The Thousands That Were Left Devastated By The 7.8 Magnitude Earthquake In Turkey And Syria

SOUTHFIELD, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, February 7, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Yesterday an earthquake with a magnitude of 7.8 hit Turkey and Syria. As of this morning, more than 5,100 people have been killed and thousands more injured across the two countries. Residential buildings and infrastructure were destroyed, devastating many families during an exceptionally harsh winter season. The people of Syria, who have already been living in a war-torn country for over a decade, are suffering exponentially due to the lack of governmental resources and support. Meanwhile, Turkey is experiencing the highest death toll from an earthquake since 1999.

LIFE is on the ground, working to distribute emergency aid in Idlib, Azaz, Jandar and Sarmada, including the distribution of food, bottled water and heavy winter blankets to families that have lost their homes. Additionally, LIFE is providing hot meals, hygiene kits and medicines to hospitals in northern Syria, including Al-Amal hospital, Haram hospital,
