nandbox Inc., the leading no-code app-building platform, is thrilled to announce the release of an enhanced iOS app development process.

nandbox Unveils Streamlined iOS App Development Process

The new development process enables users to quickly design, develop, and publish their iOS apps in a fraction of the time it previously took. Usually, the app publishing process with nandbox would take 40 minutes, but it has now been improved to only take 20 minutes on average. The process includes intuitive user interfaces and powerful development tools that make it easy for developers to bring their ideas to life and create applications with outstanding performance and error-handling capabilities.

"This is such great news for all iOS app developers." nandbox CEO and Founder Hazem Maguid stated. "Over the years, iOS developers have struggled with the whole process of both building and publishing apps to the app store due to many difficulties. With dedication, hard work, and great research, our team was successfully able to eradicate any obstacles that could face developers."

Developers can now publish directly to the Apple App Store, which has greatly improved the publishing process. All publishing steps can be done through the app builder without any external interventions.

"We are proud to state that we are one of the few app builders where developers can create native apps and publish them directly to the Apple App Store. nandbox is committed to helping developers create great apps; it is our first and foremost aim. With its new iOS development process, the company is expecting to see a surge in the number of developers using the platform." Hazem Maguid, nandbox CEO and Founder stated.
