UNITED KINGDOM, February 10, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- At the moment, we're living in a challenging environment of constant pressure and unpredictable events. The market is in turmoil, and problems are becoming a thing of everyday nature. Yes, not all downsides are due to external conditions. Many "hiccups" result from a troublesome internal operation or people's inadequacies.

How group coaching and executive coaching works

Many businesses face problems because their owners or executives do not know how to deal with them. Or because they think that they take care of everything without any specialized support from experts.

Christos Vasilopoulos, the founder of ChannelDoublor and an accredited business coach, has a solid knowledge and understanding of the Greek business ecosystem. He easily recognizes the wrong steps taken by Greek companies that prevent them from prospering. With the new business coaching services ChannelDoublor offers, he helps businesses and executives set their goals and achieve them in an organized and structured manner.
