Trending Conveyor Belt Market Trend

Technological advancement is a key trend gaining popularity in the conveyor belt market.

Manufacturers operating in the conveyor belt global market are developing new technologies such as eco-friendly conveyor belts, direct drive motors, smart conveyors, vacuum conveyors, adjustable conveyors, and others to meet industry demands and strengthen their market position. Eco-friendly conveyors securely move materials with little harm to the environment, reduce spillage, and protect the items from dust and harmful particles. For instance, in April 2022, BEUMER Group, a German-based manufacturer of intralogistics systems, launched an eco-friendly U-shaped conveyor belt. The U-shaped conveyor makes port terminal operations effective and environmentally friendly. The design permits the implementation of larger mass flows than a pipe conveyor and narrower curve radii than a troughed belt conveyor, all with dust-free conveyance. The idlers make the belt into a closed tube, shielding the material conveyed from outside forces and the environment from emissions like material loss, dust, or odors.

A conveyor belt is a device made of a material, such as rubber, stretched across rotating rollers that propels it forward while also moving the object positioned on it. Conveyor belts are extremely well-liked across many industries because they are highly adaptable, lightweight, and affordable. The conveyor belt is used to transport heavy and light objects of various sizes from one point to the other. Automated distribution, warehousing, manufacturing, airports, production facilities, and others use conveyor belts.
