

Tazofarm Is Now Offering CBG Kief Hemp Wraps to Cannabis Enthusiasts

The company is launching a line of premium hemp flower cones with hemp CBG kief and terpenes.

CARROLLTON, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, February 9, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tazofarm's Ganjika, a producer of high-quality, lab-tested products, has launched new strains of its famous line of premium DELTA-8 CBG kief with innovative added terpenes. The smoke is smooth, pure, and clean, with a flowery aroma. Their Delta-8-infused hemp flower comes in a king-size cone, offering prime CBG hemp kief material for smoking. When you buy their CBG keif, these rolls come packaged in a clear glass tube with a child-resistant cap.

Are you unfamiliar with Delta 8? It is a cannabinoid derived from hemp plants that have effects comparable to those of traditional cannabis, such as increasing appetite and reducing pain and anxiety, but without the additional feeling of paranoia that some THC users get from traditional cannabis. To educate customers about D8 and the importance of seeking out high-quality, lab-tested goods made with hemp cultivated in the United States, Tazofarms offers a wealth of educational content through its blogs. Furthermore, they provide high-quality products such as CBG kief: caviar rolls made with premium Delta-8-infused hemp flowers.

This Ganjika product contains CBG, unlike many other products available on the market. When combined, CBG and CBD have an ultra-entourage effect. Although both CBG and CBD have beneficial effects when taken individually, the perks are multiplied when integrated, including potent relief from physical pain, mental stress, anxiety, and depression. Also, this combination, now that we mention it, makes their product non-psychoactive. Furthermore, these Ganjika hemp kief prerolls are available in three varieties: T1 Trump (Indica), Suver Haze (Hybrid), and Lifter (Sativa). Tazofarm is motivated to keep innovating and bringing such new premium CBG kiefs to market.

As the company proudly aims, "it is its mission to provide you with the highest quality hemp-based THC products. They use organic hemp and other natural ingredients to create products that have undergone laboratory testing. When you buy their CBG kief, the premium indoor reserve collection of a 5-Pack Caviar Hemp Kief with added terpenes is based on Texas-grown, DELTA-8 infused hemp flower from their very own cutting-edge, high-tech "vertical hydroponic" farm. Certainly, the best in town."

About the Company

TazoFarms owns the brand Ganjika. Since the business is autonomous, everything it sells is grown by it. Ganjika became one of the first businesses to sell CBG-infused hemp flowers in a king-size cone, effectively dominating the market. The products, which are unquestionably lab-tested and FDA-approved, are offered on their website.
