Great new book on bullying and coloring book released The new book is free on Amazon through February 12,2022

LOCUST GROVE, VA, UNITED STATES, February 21, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A new book and coloring book released by a former Stafford County teacher to teach kindness and teach kids how to deal with bullying and what actions is needed to take if they are bullied or see someone being bullied. The story takes children on an adventure

A classic lesson in preparing kids to defend themselves against bullies told in a children's book through the character Detective Sam, a dog with superpowers (hearing, speed, inventiveness). When Diego, a child in Flagstone Elementary, is bullied by another kid, Barry, Sam teleports himself to the school and comes to the aid of Diego, who is left without his lunch money.

Instead of using his superpowers, Sam prepares Diego to take care of himself with a four-part course that every child should know: using strong body language to fend off bullish advances; defending against violent behavior and preventing yourself from getting hurt; breaking the cycle of violence to never retaliate and control anger; and informing a teacher or adult.
