Statistically, Tennessee is second in the nation in meat goat inventory, and ranks in the top five states in production of tobacco, fresh market tomatoes, and snap beans.

Tennessee's number one commodity in terms of cash receipts is cattle and calves, followed by soybeans, broilers, nursery crops and corn. The state motto of Tennessee is "Agriculture and Commerce" and its nickname is the "Volunteer State"—referring to the War of 1812 when thousands of brave Tennessean men volunteered to Governor Blount's call for enlistment.

Morning Ag Clips has expanded its coverage into Tennessee.
