The MFTs are among the pioneers to adopt this breakthrough platform, producing 3D full-body avatars that integrate Metaverse and Blockchain technology with storytelling, adventure gaming, and cartoons.

The creators see it as the next big innovation. They assembled a team of seasoned technologists, entertainment industry veterans, agency owners and business professionals who are all passionate about Web3 and the convergence of business, media, and technology. The group shares a vision of reimagining the way NFTs have been adapted in the new merging of tech, and reaching new audiences in the writing space.

“With over 20 years of experience in the world of art and entertainment, we've got the portfolio to make this happen! We have worked with Adidas, Nikon, CNN, BMW, Coca-Cola, Nestlé, and more -- NFTs are truly exciting as we felt connected to it, and believe in the many possibilities it holds for further innovations,” one of the founders, Max Penzel shares.

Meet the Family

Follow our main characters: dad Vern, mom Vicky, daughter Tilda, son Robby, Granny Gertrude, their neighbor Tim, and cop Sergeant Muledeer as they traverse a multi-dimensional portal that allows different versions of themselves into their universe. With lovable quirks and relatable family dynamics as backbone, The MFTs' stories come alive with plot twists at every pull of their fridge door.

What can you expect from The MFTs?

Each MFTs holder gets to choose a character that best represents their personality, and come up with his or her own backstory through the MFTs website. Members vote on its trajectory, and brainstorm ideas for what happens next. The community will then recognize and award the best NFT stories; the more invested the audience is, the more valuable the project becomes. Here's the best part: the writer can be incentivized for their creativity.
