Swan Island Networks & ELERTS Bring Proactive Physical Threat Intelligence and Risk Management Capability to Customers

Swan Island Networks & ELERTS partner to deliver proactive physical threat intelligence and risk management solutions to US and global customers

PORTLAND, OREGON, UNITED STATES, February 17, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Swan Island Networks and ELERTS have partnered to provide industry leading solutions to US and global customers needing "see something say something" situational awareness and proactive physical security intelligence.

"When I saw the ease of capturing real-time field intelligence through the ELERTS solution" Swan Island's CEO, Pete O'Dell, asserted. "I immediately saw the synergy with TX360's global open-source physical security intelligence monitoring."

"Getting the full operational picture and responding quickly and effectively means better risk mitigation for customers in all business and government sectors," said Ed English, CEO of ELERTS. "By enabling people with mobile phones to immediately and discreetly report concerns, we provide vital real-time information to control centers to proactively respond to incidents."

The solutions are available for entities who want to reduce the risk to lives, property, brand and operational continuity through preparedness and communications. Deployment of both solutions can be done quickly; within hours if a critical event demands an immediate response.
