

Houston, Let's Talk About Love

It's time for community members to come together to celebrate the commonalities that bind us together. Join the Let's Talk About Love tour this Saturday!

HOUSTON, TEXAS, UNITED STATES,
February 22, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/
-- We're talking about love at the We Serve Theater, St. John's Downtown
Church, 2019 Crawford Avenue!

Join us from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. as
Glodean Champion, 2x TEDx Speaker,
Author, and Transformational Leader, guides community members through an open conversation, mini-workshops,
and a panel discussion about love,
social responsibility, and our Universal connection.

Glodean Champion was inspired by her 2021 cross country drive where she spoke to people about love and connection from California to Georgia. The experience led her to organize the The Let's Talk About Love Tour.

Let's Talk About Love, Champion's change the world project, kicked off in her hometown, Monterey, CA, on October 5, 2022, to a sold-out audience. Attendees said they learned a lot and were grateful for the experience. "Many people who attended said they didn't know what to expect and got more than they could have imagined," Champion said. The inaugural event renewed Champion's belief in the power of community and what's possible when you walk in your purpose. Now, filled with an extra dose of love and faith, and driven by her life's purpose, Champion is taking Let's Talk About Love across the country. First stop, Houston, Texas!

This tour was inspired by my cross-country drive from Monterey, CA to Macon, GA. I talked to over 100 people along the way about love and they all agreed that love is the bridge that connects us.”

This event is FREE to the public! If you're ready to make a difference in the world...get your ticket on Eventbrite today!

Joining Champion for the panel discussion will be Robin Boykin, Owner of UENDURE Tea Company; Lloyd Joshua Sams; Author, Road to Redemption: A Story About Racial Healing in America, Special Counsel to the Mayer Brown Law Offices; Norman Nadorff, Voter Engagement Organizer, Ethan Ganz; and Global Educator, Coco Li Thompson.

Come expecting to learn, dialogue, and imagine the possibilities of life without the divisiveness of race and difference getting in the way! There will also be food, fun, prizes, and an opportunity to give back to the community.

Between 89% and 95% of Americans agree that we need more meaningful love in our communities, America, and the world, according to a Fetzer Institute survey. Champion hopes this event and those that follow will begin to change the narrative about race and difference and move our country toward healing and connection. She believes most Americans want to put an end to the divisiveness of race, politics, religion, and all the other differences that prevent us from truly understanding and accepting one another.

"It's time for us to come together. This isn't an American issue," she said, "It's a global concern, and I want to help make the world a better place by using loving kindness to guide us toward rather than away from one another. That's the only way we can heal and grow stronger together. We have already experienced what growing apart can do to us."

About Glodean Champion

Glodean Champion is a 2x TEDx Speaker, Keynote Speaker, Author, and Transformational Leader who specializes in process improvement, leadership development, team building, and diversity, equity & inclusion (DEI). She's a Six Sigma Black Belt and draws on her extensive background to strengthen leaders, build agile teams, and create a culture of continuous improvement.

As a speaker, she is exceptionally engaging, funny and passionate, and pulls from her upbringing and the influence of her mother — her first authentic leader – to create stories that connect with her audience. Her approach to delicate subjects is with honesty, authenticity, and vulnerability, and she is a master at challenging and captivating audiences of all kinds in a way that forces them to take pause and listen from the heart, something she believes we need more of if we want to make the world a better place.
