

Third-Party Administrators Onboard New Clients in Minutes with Claims Launchpad by Five Sigma

Claims Launchpad empowers third-party administrators (TPAs) to quickly and easily set-up new clients and start handling claims, without development resources.

NEW YORK, NY, USA, February 22, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Five Sigma, an emerging leader in SaaS insurance claims management solutions (CMS), has recently launched Claims

Launchpad for third-party administrators (TPAs), designed to empower TPAs to effortlessly onboard new clients, without dependence on development or IT resources. Using Five Sigma's Claims Launchpad, TPAs can start handling claims for new clients in a matter of minutes rather than months, thereby significantly reducing the time to market.

Five Sigma Claims Launchpad allows TPAs to configure unique workflows for each carrier and guides TPAs through all mandatory steps to set-up a new client in the claims system, including advanced configurations such as:

- Selecting multiple lines of business
- Configuring exposures and coverages for specific lines of business
- Defining assignment rules and workflows
- Creating notifications
- Adding payment method
- Setting up telephony configurations

Once up and running, TPAs can continue to optimize and grow their clients' operations by adding more complex configurations and workflows, such as APIs and integrations.

"Five Sigma Claims Launchpad empowers TPAs to leverage technology as a key differentiator and competitive advantage, allowing them to win new clients more quickly and efficiently, while delivering superior services," said Oded Barak, Five Sigma co-founder and CEO.
