NEW DELHI, DELHI, INDIA, February 23, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TGAL, the largest food tech company in Japan and one of the most recognised food conglomerates with a network of over 1400 host kitchens and over 120 brands from different regions of Japan announces an exclusive partnership with Village Food Courts (VFC), the largest F&B aggregator of National & International brands in India.

"For the longest time Japanese cuisine in India has been limited to leading 5-star hotels and high-end restaurants but was a hit among foodies, especially the young and the health conscious" said Deepak Kumar Sharma, Founder & CEO of VFC. "Our exclusive partnership with TGAL will now make the best of Japanese cuisine more accessible, and offer value for money while preserving the authenticity and the real taste of Japan. In collaboration with TGAL, we will be introducing the best concepts in Cutlets, Japanese Curry, Ramen, Miso Soup, Teriyaki Burger, Sushi and more.”

VFC is a curator of great F&B options from around the world for the consuming class - youngsters and the well-heeled alike, who are more open to trying new things. With a rapidly growing portfolio of 50+ Indian and International branded concepts on its platform, VFC is currently the largest F&B aggregator in India. Unlike most F&B groups focusing on cloud/ghost kitchen operations calling it a food-tech play, VFC believes in real brands needing a customer connect in physical world and operates a hybrid model built for scale with over 50+ nationwide locations in the pipeline, across neighbourhood malls, expressways and soon within top airports.
