With the introduction of new surgical methods and technology developments, minimally invasive surgery has seen a robotic revolution in the shape of Da Vinci robotic systems, making MIS operations a globally accepted standard of care for many clinical specialities. The 2nd Annual MarketsandMarkets Minimally Invasive Surgical Conference (6 streams), which will be held in London on March 20–21, 2023, is something we are delighted to present across the globe.

Several of the top medical professionals will attend the event and offer a few case studies that will help in knowledge enhancement. The English Royal College of Surgeons has awarded up to 11 CPD points for the 2nd Annual MIS event '23.
