“The Soccer Academy” is an uplifting, inspirational, educational, and cultural show that demonstrates key soccer skills as well. Most of all, perhaps, it boosts self-esteem, and encourages healthy living for young people, adults, and families domestically and internationally. The main premise of “The Soccer Academy” is to spread a message of “peace through soccer around the world.” “The Soccer Academy” is co-produced in connection with the Global Foundation for Peace through Soccer, a non-profit organization that assists underprivileged, challenged, and marginalized communities around the globe through the sport of soccer.

Soccer is one of the greatest tools for spreading peace, love, culture, and understanding in the world today.”

Antonio Soave

This past summer, “The Soccer Academy” and the Global Foundation for Peace through Soccer teamed up with the State Department and the United States Embassy in Rabat, Morocco to host two weeks of soccer camps in Marrakech and Safi for young soccer players who were underserved in their communities. During those camps, the staff from the Global Foundation for Peace through Soccer operated free soccer clinics throughout the day, gave away free soccer equipment, and served free meals to the needy and less fortunate in those communities in Morocco.

The Global Foundation and The Soccer Academy are returning to Morocco in March to conduct two “All Girls Soccer Clinics” on Saturday, March 11th in Marrakech, Morocco, and on Sunday, March 12th in Safi (Asfi), Morocco.

Founder and Chairman of the Global Foundation for Peace through Soccer, Antonio Soave, said this:

“Soccer is one of the greatest tools for spreading peace, love, culture, and understanding in the world today. We are grateful to have so many wonderful high-level volunteer coaches from around the globe that donate their time and attention to this cause. Most of all, we feel honored and blessed to be able to serve the needy, the disenfranchised, and the less fortunate whenever and wherever possible.

Furthermore, soccer possesses the ability ethnic, racial, religious, and cultural boundaries. In our case, we use soccer as a viable mechanism to get communities around the world to engage in a more peaceful and sustainable dialogue.”

The Soccer Academy television show is distributed globally by the Television Syndication Company (“TVS”). For distribution inquiries, please contact Mary Joyce at mary@tvsco.com.
